

THE MANY DOORS TO CONSUMER EMPOWERMENT

A Guide to Advocacy for Mental Health Consumers in Pennsylvania

Last Updated 2011

“The Doors We Open and Close Each Day Decide the Lives We Live”

Flora Whittemore

There is a lot of talk lately in the mental health system about “Consumer Empowerment”. Consumer empowerment is about taking your life into your own hands. It is about making choices and decisions that work for you. It is about deciding which doors to open and which doors to close.

This guide was created to help people in Pennsylvania who are dealing with mental illness learn about the mental health system and when, where, and how you can shape it – if you choose to.

Some of this may be of interest to you – some may not. There may be one door, or several, you want to open and explore further.

It is your Choice!

That is the whole point of Consumer Empowerment.

Why Get Involved?

Inspiration from other consumers who chose to get involved in shaping the mental health system...

"I can help change what happens to me and others; it has helped to benefit my recovery" - EVELYN

"If you're better informed, you can be a better advocate" - SANDRA

"I feel like I can make a difference" - ANTHONY

"Ongoing relationships with policymakers mean a lot. He looked us in the eyes. Now we're more like equals" - RUTHANN

"I feel useful enough to feel that I am making a difference in the community"
- CARLA

"I have learned how to listen, then react" - DANNI

"We've learned to persevere and not give up!" - CHRIS

"Even if nothing changes, we feel like we gave it our best shot" - JAMES

"I feel more comfortable as a leader" - CHUCK

"I want to pass it on - information, energy, the belief that we're worth advocating for" - ROSE MARIE

You Can Make a Difference too!

What's Behind Door Number 1?

“The Language of Mental Health”

The Mental Health system, like most systems, has a language all its own. In order to navigate this system it is helpful to learn the language that others use. Words such as “consumer empowerment” and “recovery” have become an important part of the language of mental health.

The Mental Health System – “Then” & “Now”

“Then” - The History of the Mental Health System

For many, many years people with serious mental illness were not expected to get well. Since people were not expected to get well, they needed to be “taken care of” by doctors, nurses, therapists, family members, and institutions. Back then; there was little hope for people with serious mental illness to have a full and meaningful life.

“Now” - What Has Changed?

Over the years there has been a growing voice of consumers/survivors/ex-patients speaking out about their experiences with mental health and their journey toward wellness. The consumers at the forefront of the movement began to describe the elements that were critical to healing. Relationships, hope, choice, and meaning were identified as key to recovery. In addition, improved medications have been helpful in managing symptoms without awful side effects.

More Behind Door Number 1...

What Role Can I Play in the Recovery Movement?

Before the recovery movement, the mental health system relied on the knowledge and experience of doctors, therapists, nurses and other professionals to determine what was best for people dealing with mental illness. Now, the recovery movement relies on the knowledge and experience of consumers, partnering with professionals and the community. Read on to learn about the different ways you can help the mental health system move toward recovery by becoming an empowered and involved consumer.

Mental Health Recovery

What is meant by Recovery?

Recovery is a self-determined and holistic journey that people undertake to heal and grow. Recovery is facilitated by relationships and environments that provide hope, empowerment, choices, and opportunities that promote people reaching their full potential as individuals and community members. –

OMHSAS “A Call for Change”

How Can a Mental Health System Support Recovery?

To support recovery, the focus must be on consumer choice, hope, and healing. Doctors, therapists, and mental health administrators must treat consumers and family members as partners in the system of care.

How Can I Help Build a Mental Health System that Supports Recovery?

There are many, many ways – here are just a few:

- 1) Get involved – speak up and speak out by sharing your thoughts, feelings, and ideas.
- 2) Attend CSP meetings. (See Page 7)
- 3) Help develop your county’s Mental Health Plan. (See Page 9)
- 4) Encourage and support other consumers to get involved.
- 5) Help your county build a strong Consumer/Family Satisfaction Team. (See Page 8)
- 6) Treat others in the system with respect and expect the same for yourself.
- 7) Help develop the Service Area Plan for your county’s state hospital. (See Page 10)
- 8) Help your county develop consumer-driven services. (See Page 13)
- 9) Develop support groups for consumers. (See Page 19)
- 10) Work as a partner with providers, other consumers, family members, advocates, county mental health administrators, workgroups, and committees.

Consumer Empowerment

What is Consumer Empowerment?

Simply said, “Consumer Empowerment” means feeling in charge of your own life, your mental illness, and your recovery. This doesn’t mean you don’t need help. It means others work with you instead of doing for you.

What is a Consumer Empowered Mental Health System?

It is a system that includes consumers in all decision-making about programs and policies. It is a system where you - the consumer - have a voice, have choices, and have access to the services and supports you need. It is a system where you have the opportunity to develop and run services. It is a system of partnering and mutual respect.

How Do I Help Build a Mental Health System that Supports Consumer Empowerment?

First, become empowered as a consumer. Not everyone will be empowered in the same way. The idea is to find the tools you need to support your recovery and life. You may have to do something new or uncomfortable to start to take charge of your life. Trust what you know about yourself and share that knowledge. Keep sharing with others until you are sure you are being heard. Then , work with people in the mental health system to make sure it is hearing your voice and the voices of many consumers. Insist that services and supports are developed with consumers, for consumers, and by consumers!

How Do I Do That?

Read on to learn more about the many doors to a consumer empowered mental health system...

What's Behind Door Number 2?

"Who's Who in the Mental Health System?"

The Mental Health "System" consists of consumers, family members, providers, advocates, behavioral health plans, and county and state mental health administrators. To be an effective consumer advocate, it is helpful to know the role of each part of the system and how to contact and connect with others who make up the system, in order to shape the system.

Providers

Providers are doctors, therapists, case managers, social workers, nurses, and other mental health professionals who offer individual, family, or group treatment services to those with mental illness and to mentally ill substance abusers. There are different types of provider agencies such as partial hospital programs, outpatient programs, and psychiatric rehabilitation programs. To learn more about the providers in your county, contact your county Mental Health Program. Turn to Page 23 for contact information for your county.

Advocacy Organizations

These organizations support and help those dealing with mental illness, addictions, or both. Advocacy organizations support consumer empowerment. On Pages 15 & 16 you will find information about several local, regional, and statewide advocacy organizations. Consumers can also choose to start their own advocacy organization.

More Behind Door Number 2...

Behavioral Health Plans

Behavioral health plans are managed care organizations that provide mental health and drug & alcohol services through contracted providers. If you have Medical Assistance (ACCESS card) your behavioral health plan is a Behavioral Health Managed Care Organization, which vary from county to county. These plans have consumer advisory boards and complaint and grievance panels that include consumer representation. As a consumer involved with the health plan, you can help assure that others get the services they need. If you are in one of these health plans you can call them to learn more about opportunities for consumer participation. Turn to Page 26 for the phone number of the behavioral health plan in your county.

Single County Authority

The Single County Authority (SCA) is the county administration that is responsible for oversight of drug & alcohol service providers in your county. The Single County Authority is charged with monitoring the quality and quantity of providers in the county to meet the prevention, intervention and treatment needs related to drug and alcohol abuse and addiction. The SCAs, in turn, are monitored by the Bureau of Drug & Alcohol Programs within the state's Department of Health. Turn to Page 39 for the contact information for the SCA in your county.

County Mental Health Administrators

Each county mental health office has a mental health administrator and other staff responsible for the oversight of mental health services and supports in the county. It is important for county staff to have regular contact with, and input from, consumers and family members about what is and isn't working in the mental health system. The county staff works for the consumers and their families. Turn to Page 23 to find out how to contact your county mental health administrators.

More Behind Door Number 2...

State Mental Health Administrators

The people at the state level who are responsible for developing and monitoring the mental health system for Pennsylvania work for the PA Department of Public Welfare (DPW) in the Office of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services (OMHSAS). OMHSAS is advised by the Mental Health Planning Council, also known as the OMHSAS Advisory Committee (OMHSAS Advisory See Page 11). Staff work together with each of the county mental health offices, but are also responsible for making sure the county administrators are meeting the needs of mental health consumers and their families.

The OMHSAS Office is divided into 4 regions across the state. The Western Region Field Office oversees 23 counties: Erie, Warren, McKean, Potter, Crawford, Venango, Forest, Elk, Cameron, Mercer, Clarion, Jefferson, Clearfield, Lawrence, Butler, Armstrong, Indiana, Beaver, Allegheny, Westmoreland, Washington, Fayette and Greene. Their phone number is 412-565-5226.

The Central Field Office oversees 24 counties: Clinton, Lycoming, Columbia, Centre, Union, Montour, Snyder, Northumberland, Mifflin, Cambria, Blair, Juniata, Dauphin, Huntington, Perry, Lebanon, Cumberland, Lancaster, Somerset, Bedford, Fulton, Franklin, Adams and York. Their phone number is 717-705-8396.

The Northeast Field Office oversees 15 offices: Tioga, Bradford, Susquehanna, Wayne, Sullivan, Wyoming, Lackawanna, Pike, Luzerne, Monroe, Carbon, Schuylkill, Lehigh, Northampton and Berks. Their phone number is 570-963-4335.

The Southeast Field Office oversees 5 counties: Bucks, Montgomery, Chester, Delaware and Philadelphia. Their phone number is 610-313-5844.

What's Behind Door Number 3?

“Learning How I Can Make a Difference”

There are many ways for you to shape the mental health system so that it responds to your needs and the needs of other consumers in your county.

Learn about the parts of the system that are already in place where you can add your voice.

The Community Support Program (CSP)

What is CSP?

CSP stands for Community Support Program. Every county has or should have a CSP that works as a group to address issues about mental health. The group includes consumers, family members, providers - anyone interested in improving the mental health system. Everyone is welcome!

When Do CSPs Meet?

Most groups meet monthly for 1-2 hours. Call your County Mental Health office to find out when and where CSP meets in your county. See page 23 for the phone number of your County Mental Health Program.

What Happens at CSP Meetings?

There are discussions about ways to improve the programs and support services for people dealing with mental illness, and announcements about upcoming events. Meetings are used to problem solve areas of concern in the mental health system. Some examples include monitoring services (C/FST reports) and advising in the county planning process.

More Behind Door Number 3...

What Could I Contribute at a CSP Meeting?

Whatever fits for you. Some people share ideas, some share personal experiences, some ask questions, some listen to what others have to say.

Why is My Voice Needed at CSP Meetings?

Because you know what works best for you. Without your ideas, thoughts and opinions, others are just making their best guess about what you want and need for your recovery.

The Consumer/ Family Satisfaction Team (C/FST)

What is the Consumer/Family Satisfaction Team (C/FST)?

The C/FST is a group of consumers and family members who interview other consumers and family members about the mental health services they have received.

Why Are People Interviewed?

So they can share what they liked, and what they didn't, about the services they received and make suggestions for improvements. Interviews can be done anonymously.

How is the Information from the Interviews Used?

The information is used to address, correct or improve a specific problem with a behavioral health provider, and/or to make improvements to a part of the behavioral health system.

Where Do the Interviews Take Place?

The interviews can take place in person or over the phone. In person interviews occur at a provider site or any place that is comfortable and convenient.

How Long Does the Interview Take?

The interview can be completed in 20 minutes to an hour, depending on how much the person has to say.

More Behind Door Number 3...

How Can I Get Involved with the C/FST?

Here are just a few ways to get involved:

- 1) You can be interviewed about any mental health or drug & alcohol services you receive.
- 2) You can ask your provider or your county CSP to schedule a speaker from the C/FST to talk more about the purpose of C/FST.
- 3) You can become employed as a C/FST interviewer if your county Team is hiring.

How Do I Contact the C/FST?

Turn to Page 28 for the contact information for your C/FST Program.

The County Mental Health Plan

What is the County Mental Health Plan?

The Mental Health Plan is the document that sets out the mission, goals, and needed services for adults with mental illness, in a given county. It is important that this plan be developed with input from consumers and family members who use public mental health services.

What is the Purpose of the County Mental Health Plan?

The purpose of the Plan is for the county to describe the current efforts being made, as well as the efforts still needed, to enable adults with mental illness to live, work, learn and participate fully in their communities.

Is a New Plan Written Each Year?

Yes, but the county should always be reviewing the past Plan when developing the next year's Plan to determine what needs to stay the same and what changes should be made.

Is the Mental Health Plan Available to Anyone Who Wants to See It?

Absolutely! The current Plan, as well as past Plans, can be obtained at the County Mental Health Administration office or a copy can be mailed to any person requesting it. See Page 23 to find out how to contact your County Mental Health office.

More Behind Door Number 3...

Why Might I Want to get Involved in the Mental Health Planning Process?

Because you want to make sure you and others have the services you need. For example, if your county does not have a drop-in center, you can advise that one be included in the county plan.

How Can I Get Involved in the Mental Health Planning Process?

There are several ways:

- 1) Find out what is in the current county Mental Health Plan.
- 2) Find out what mental health services and supports currently exist in the county.
- 3) Find out what services may be needed, by asking consumers and family members.
- 4) Identify what services are not helpful and where program funding can be shifted to build new programs.
- 5) Tell other consumers and family members about the importance of the Mental Health Plan and the importance of their input.
- 6) Attend the CSP meetings (see Page 7) to discuss the Plan.
- 7) Ask questions about the Plan. If something in the Plan doesn't make sense, say so.
- 8) Ask questions about the cost of services to help determine the value of a given service.
- 9) Provide ideas and suggestions about the services and supports needed in the county to be included in the Plan.

The Service Area Plan

What is the Service Area Plan?

This is a Plan developed by a group of counties and their state hospital that lays out how to decrease the use of state hospitals and increase the use of community mental health services for consumers.

What is the Purpose of the Service Area Plan?

To bring together all interested persons to identify the strengths and needs of each county's community mental health services and support for adults.

More Behind Door Number 3...

What is the Service Area?

The service area is the counties served by each state hospital. For example, the area served by Allentown State Hospital includes Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon, Monroe and Pike counties. Contact your County Mental Health Office (see Page 23) to find out which state hospital covers your county.

Are All the Service Area Plans Working Toward the Same Goals? Yes.

The state Office of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services developed three goals to be reached over a five-year period. The shared goals are: 1) within five years, no person will remain in a state hospital for more than two years, 2) within five years, no person will be involuntarily committed to a community hospital more than twice in one year, 3) within five years, the number of consumers who end up in jail will be reduced.

How Can I Get Involved in Meeting the Goals of the Service Area Plans?

There are several ways to get involved:

- 1) Become familiar with your county's Service Area Plan by reading it and reviewing it.
- 2) Contact the county Mental Health Administration to find out when and where the Service Area Plan meetings occur.
- 3) Attend meetings when possible and provide ideas about what services and supports you and others need to stay well and live in the community.

OMHSAS Advisory Committees

What are the OMHSAS Advisory Committees?

The OMHSAS Advisory Committees are 3 Committees made up of appointed members who are responsible for providing feedback to OMHSAS on the mental health and drug and alcohol service system in PA. The 3 Committees are the Adult Committee, the Older Adult Committee and the Children's Committee. The Committee members are consumers, persons in recovery from addictions, family members, providers, advocates, health plans and county administrators. There are 30 people appointed to each Committee, as well as OMHSAS staff.

More Behind Door Number 3...

What Issues Would the Committees Raise with OMHSAS?

Any number of issues that affect mental health and drug and alcohol services in the State. For example, the Children's Committee might advise OMHSAS about the need for more in-home services for kids with mental health issues. Or the Adult Committee might make recommendations for the state to increase the number of services for persons with both mental illness and substance abuse problems.

How Often Do the Committees Meet?

The Committees meet every other month in Harrisburg for a daylong meeting. The 3 Committees each meet half the day, and then all 3 Committees meet jointly for half the day. Meetings are open to non-members. There are also workgroups that meet at other times and communication that occurs by mail or email. The workgroups are open to non-committee members.

How Can I Get Appointed to One of the Three Committees?

You must complete an application and submit it to OMHSAS. Generally speaking, you need to be involved in local activities such as CSP, SAP or C/FST before getting appointed to one of the statewide OMHSAS Advisory Committees. If you are appointed, your travel expenses to and from the meetings are reimbursed by OMHSAS.

What's Behind Door Number 4?

“Consumer-Driven Programs”

It is essential for consumer-driven programs to be at the core of a mental health system that is consumer-empowered and recovery-focused. Listed below are examples of consumer-driven programs. Find out if programs like these, or others, exist in your county.

Drop-in Centers

These are places designed for consumers and operated by consumers, although some Drop-ins are not consumer driven. Drop-in centers can offer a range of services such as psychosocial rehabilitation, socialization, education, support, community outreach, recreation, computer skills, job skill development, budgeting classes and other recovery tools. These “other recovery tools” might include learning to develop a Wellness Recovery Action Plan (WRAP) or how to write a Mental Health Advanced Directive. Turn to Page 32 for a list of Drop-in Centers.

Psychiatric Rehabilitation Programs

Commonly referred to as “Psych Rehab”, these programs are key to a consumer-empowered mental health system. Psych Rehab is a non-medical service for people with serious mental illness to help them achieve success in living, learning, working, and in their social and family relationships. There are three types of psychiatric rehabilitation programs: mobile services (provided to you in your home); site based (provided at a facility); and the clubhouse model (focused on work-related activities). Each consumer’s psych rehab program is unique because it is developed by the consumer based on his or her own needs, goals and desires.

More Behind Door Number 4...

Warmline

A Warmline is a confidential telephone support service for those dealing with mental illness. (A Warmline is not a crisis line.) Trained consumers who are recovering from mental illness staff the Warmline. The Warmline offers guidance, support, reassurance and a listening ear, to consumers who may be feeling stressed, lonely, anxious, confused or depressed. A Warmline also offers hope from a consumer who has been in the same shoes as the caller.

Peer Support

Peer Support Services are offered by consumers for consumers with mental illness. The consumers providing these services are trained to offer others support and assistance in their recovery. Support services can include advocacy, education, help with developing community supports, crisis management, and referrals to other services. These services are designed to promote empowerment, self-determination and coping skills for consumers through mentoring and connections to other needed resources.

Fairweather Lodge

Fairweather Lodge is a program where consumers live and work together and provide support to one another. Consumers live together in small groups in a house and own and operate a small business. There is no live-in professional staff at any Lodge, but they are available for training and emergencies. Together, consumers manage their household and their business by sharing responsibilities and using group problem solving skills.

Contact your County Mental Health office to find out if any of the above consumer-driven programs exist in your county. Turn to Page 23 for the contact information for your County Mental Health office.

What's Behind Door Number 5?

“Join Others in Consumer Empowerment”

There are many local and statewide organizations that are focused on consumer empowerment. Those listed below are membership organizations you can join if you choose.

Pennsylvania Mental Health Consumers Association (PMHCA) – This statewide organization is governed and operated by and for mental health consumers. It provides individual advocacy, systems advocacy, information and referrals, technical assistance to CSP and C/FST, and a resource library for mental health consumers. PMHCA also provides trainings on topics such as empowerment and recovery. Membership dues for consumers are $10 a year and can be waived for those with a fixed income. PMHCA can be reached at 1-800-887-6422 or by emailing them at pmhca@pmhca.org. You can learn more about PMHCA on their website at www.pmhca.org.

The Mental Health Association in Pennsylvania (MHAPA) – This organization works on behalf of mental health consumers through advocacy, education and public policy. Advocacy work focuses on consumer empowerment and making sure people have access to services and supports. Education is provided to eliminate discrimination against mental illness by improving public understanding, attitudes and actions regarding mental health and mental illnesses. Public policy work is focused on developing and supporting policies that promote mental health, consumer empowerment and access to care. MHAPA can be reached at 1-866-578-3659 or by emailing them at info@mhapa.org. You can learn more about MHAPA on their website at www.mhapa.org.

See Page 30 for a list of local Mental Health Associations (MHAs).

More Behind Door Number 5...

NAMI PA – This is a statewide organization that helps mental health consumers and their families rebuild their lives and meet the challenges of mental illness. NAMI PA provides programs of support and education, and advocates for better mental health services for their members. They also work to fight stigma and discrimination against those with mental illness through public education. NAMI PA can be reached at 1-800-223-0500 or by emailing them at nami-pa@nami.org. You can learn more about NAMI PA on their website at www.namipa.org. The website also includes information, news and website for NAMI PA affiliates from across Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Recovery Organizations Alliance, Inc. (PRO-A) – This organization works to eliminate stigma and discrimination against those affected by alcoholism and other drug addiction through education and advocacy. They do this by providing education and outreach, developing their membership, publishing a newsletter and monitoring the activities and budgets of state and county agencies responsible for drug and alcohol services. You can contact PRO-A at 1-800-858-6040 or by emailing them at info@pro-a.org. You can learn more about PRO-A on their website at www.pro-a.org. The website also provides information about the PRO-A Regional Affiliates from across the state; Message Carriers, the RASE Project, PRO-ACT and MOMSTELL, that provide services to specific counties.

“Learning the Jargon”

The Mental System has a language all its own. It is helpful to become familiar with the acronyms (those initials everyone loves to use!)

Acronyms – Commonly used initials that stand for something

BH-MCO	Behavioral Health Managed Care Organization
CAO	County Assistance Office
C/FST	Consumer/ Family Satisfaction Team
CPS	Certified Peer Specialist
CRR	Community Residential Rehabilitation
CSP	Community Support Program
CSTAP	Consumer Satisfaction Team Alliance of PA
D&A	Drug & Alcohol
DPW	Department of Public Welfare
HC	HealthChoices
HMO	Health Maintenance Organization
ICM	Intensive Case Manager
LTSR	Long Term Structured Residence
MA	Medical Assistance
MCO	Managed Care Organization
MH	Mental Health
MHA	Mental Health Association
MR	Mental Retardation
NAMI	National Alliance for Mental Illness
OMAP	Office of Medical Assistance Programs

What's Behind Door #7?

"Volunteering"

Volunteering is another way to become an empowered consumer. Here are a few ways you can get involved to help yourself, other consumers and the mental health system.

Serving on a Board of Directors

What is a Board of Directors?

A Board of Directors is the group of people who are legally responsible for the oversight of a non-profit organization. For example, non-profit mental health treatment programs, drop-in centers and mental health associations all have a Board of Directors.

What Do the Board Members Do?

Board members are legally responsible for making sure the organization carries out its mission and have funding to continue its work. Board members have duties such as monitoring the organization's programs and budgets, raising money, planning short-term and long-term goals, and raising awareness about the work of the organization.

How Can I be an Effective Board Member?

- Attend all board meetings.
- Become very familiar with the organization's programs.
- Contribute your time, ideas, experience and expertise.
- Act in the best interest of the organization.

More Behind Door Number 7...

Serving on an Advisory Council

What is an Advisory Council?

An advisory council provides advice to behavioral health managed care plans or an organization's Board of Directors and/or the staff. An advisory council is different from the Board because they do not have the legal responsibility for the organization. The council is often made up of people who have first-hand experience with the services of the organization. Mental health consumers make good advisory council members for mental health organizations.

What Do the Advisory Council Members Do?

Often advisory council members are given specific tasks to work on, or subjects to explore. The Board of Directors might ask the advisory council to make recommendations about one area of the organization such as ways to expand services or how to improve services.

How Can I Be an Effective Member of an Advisory Council?

Understand the organization, attend meetings, and contribute your ideas and experiences.

Consumer-Run Support Groups

What are Consumer-Run Support Groups?

These are groups created by mental health consumers for mental health consumers. Support groups share experience and hope with one another about mental illness and recovery. There are no professionals who participate in consumer-run support groups, but some consumers are professionals in the community.

What Types of Support Groups are there?

There are no limits to the types of support groups that exist or that can be created. There are groups for people dealing with certain illnesses such as depression or bipolar disorder. There are groups for people with mental illness and addiction, which are sometimes called “double-trouble” groups. There are support groups for family members of those with mental illness. There are groups for men only, or for women only, or for parents of kids with mental illness.

Where Do Support Groups Meet?

Groups can meet anywhere they find an available space. Many places such as drop-in centers, churches or provider organizations provide free space for support groups to meet.

Conclusion

How Do I Know Which Doors to Open?

This guide contains a lot of information about consumer empowerment and how consumers can shape the mental health system to meet their needs. Read the information in the boxes below for a review of how, when and where you can make a difference.
